

Dr. Ursula T. Wright is a strategic consultant, entrepreneur and the cutting-edge visionary of The Fusion Centre, a 40,000 square foot vision development and spiritual empowerment complex in Miami, Florida that fuses together spirituality, entrepreneurship, and strategic citywide initiatives. As an innovator, Dr. Wright uses the Fusion Centre as an unconventional outlet for emerging and misplaced leaders to be trained, transformed, and mentored at making spiritual, entrepreneurial, or social impact. She received her doctorate from Florida International University in Adult Education and Human Resource Development; and carries a hybrid leadership anointing that allows her to cross over between ministerial leadership functions, marketplace assignments and governmental initiatives. She is a leaders' leader; and mentors a global team of revolutionaries ready to set the world ablaze in ministry, business and via civic and government through her network International Council of Ambassadors (ICA). Dr. Wright has a heart for God's people and God's cities.

Her current projects and initiatives are centered around CityGate University School, a private school that teaches youth how to become socially-conscientious entrepreneurs; The Disruption Movement, a kingdom initiative that provides transformational tools and impartation to faith leaders and communities so that they are deliberately empowered to build ventures that disrupt systems and solves issues in their communities; Fusion Labs, a co-working space for business minded Kingdom people to work and worship while receiving training and mentorship; and DOXA WealthFirm & Funding Solutions, which assists organizations in funding their business and real estate transactions and providing real estate representation when selling, buying or leasing commercial real estate.

Ministerially, Dr. Wright is considered a power-packed package. She is a revelatory teacher, dynamic worshipper, and accurate prophetic minister. As an apostolic-prophetic revolutionary, she uses profound teaching and kingdom awakening in the areas of worship, intercession, kingdom possession, entrepreneurial and transformational leadership. Dr. Wright manifests a strong deliverance anointing for the nations- breaking off strongholds and ushering in the power of God.

Raised in a Pentecostal church, she developed a deep appreciation and sensitivity to the move of the Holy Spirit. She began singing in the choir at age eight and later began directing the youth choir. Later transitioning to a prophetic ministry in her early twenties, Ursula began to understand the power of prophetic music in bringing healing and deliverance to individuals. This place of personal awakening led her to record her first music project and later to record four more. As an internationally reknown psalmist, she has released five praise and worship albums that bring people into a tangible expression of God's presence. Her most recent project, The Experience: Live in the Gardens, will leave you restored, healed and celebrating. She spent 16 years of her life pastoring Flame of Fire International Ministries before shifting to focus on more training, development and equipping of emerging spiritual leaders and her work in the transformation of cities.

The message of transformation and healing never leaves her spirit. You can hear it in her music. You can find it in her most recent forthcoming book, Disruptive Warship: When Heaven and Earth Collide. You can see it as she has pastored the broken, mentored the outcast, and championed the underdog. She believes that God always has a tool to bring disruption to any atmosphere that has hindered your life. Ursula is on a mission to disrupt people so that they can disruption nations. "The earth remains dysfunctional when we won't function." Ursula lives in Miami, Florida with her three dogs, David, Maxy, and Bentley. She just happens to rescue people and animals.
